

Message from the Chair of the Scientific Program Committee

On behalf of the Executive Council and our local hosts, it's my honour to welcome you to beautiful Fredericton, NB, for the 44th annual meeting of the Canadian Sex Research Forum. Normally we start this message by telling you a little about what to expect at this year's meeting. This year I'd like to start with something more important: acknowledging the team of people who helped bring CSRF 2017 to life.

Our Executive Council works together all year to plan for this meeting, helping to maintain what we love about CSRF while continually striving for improvement based on your feedback. I'd like to thank Martin Lalumiere (Past President) for chairing our award committees and ensuring the continuity of our Executive Council; Lori Brotto (President) for her experienced guidance and sage advice; Nathan Lachowsky (Treasurer) for ensuring the financial viability of our organization; Jocelyn Wentland (Secretary) for analyzing delegate feedback and keeping us focused on our important tasks; and Drake Levere (Senior Student Representative) and Stephanie Gauvin (Junior Student Representative) for meeting the needs of our students and ensuring a rewarding experience for them.

Thank you to our team of local hosts, headed by Sarah Vannier and Sandi Byers. Their "boots on the ground" provide a vital connection between the Executive Council and the site of our meeting. Additionally, they are essential for planning some of the most popular events at CSRF, such as our annual social and "CSRF After Dark". I'd like to pay special tribute to Lisa Dawn Hamilton, our Executive Director, for her year-round efforts. Lisa Dawn is charged with making the wishes of the Executive Council come true, and this isn't easy. From lining up our venue to name badges, and everything in between, we have Lisa Dawn to thank. Finally, thank you to our anonymous student presentation judges. Their work becomes more and more difficult every year due to the ever increasing quality of student work we see here at CSRF.

With economic pressures all around, securing funding for a meeting like this is no small task. We depend on the vital support of our partners to keep our meeting as financially accessible as possible while still being able to draw delegates and speakers from across the country and beyond. I want to thank Sandi Byers and Lisa Dawn Hamilton for navigating our relationships with the University of New Brunswick and Mount Allison University, respectively. Once again, SIECCAN has generously offered to fund our student awards. Please also welcome Action Canada for Sexual Health and Rights as first time sponsors.

As always, we've made an attempt to plan for as much free time as possible so you can take in the beautiful surroundings while you're here. Since our last Fredericton meeting in 2004, the craft beer scene here has exploded. We hope you'll join us for our social event at the Picaroons brewery for a very special brew and some east coast hospitality. Last, but certainly not least, we think you'll continue to be impressed by the quality of Canadian sex research we have on display.

Thank you for coming to CSRF 2017. We hope you'll find the meeting both professionally enriching and socially engaging, and we look forward to seeing you again next year!

Warm regards,
