Waterloo, ON

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM
CSRF 2022

Message from the CSRF President-Elect & Chair of the Scientific Program Committee

We have collectively been through so much since we last met in person. You might feel either a bit overly-enthusiastic to catch up on details or possibly reticent, given how long it has been since you spent time face-to-face with many colleagues passionate about the same types of research as you. Let's pace ourselves...! We have a program planned for you that allows time and space for these important interactions, but also incorporates safeguards to help ensure people feel as comfortable as possible.

I hope you agree that we have managed somehow to keep our research lives humming despite often many months away from the physical spaces that we used to inhabit at work, all while being connected mostly through virtual means. Some people embraced the challenge and conducted some amazing work examining the impact of the pandemic on our lives. Others found new ways to study what they were studying already and new topics altogether, and still others had to put some projects aside—perhaps to the benefit of other projects that had been on the backburner for a while.

The Scientific Program Committee has worked hard behind the scenes to ensure a program that covers a wide range of topics, some new to us all and some providing important updates that we may have missed or need more in terms of details. We have an excellent range of oral and data blitz presentations to offer at this conference—thanks to you—as well as the ever-popular poster session with reception. Please do whatever you can to find the researchers behind these amazing works and ask any and all questions you can, find out their inspiration, even suggest collaborations if valuable links emerge.

As always and forever, CSRF emphasizes a climate of respect and enthusiasm. We welcome positive, curious, and considerate questions and comments. Be deferential if someone has experiences you haven't shared—well-meaning questions are always welcome!

Who put together this event!? It takes so many dedicated people. The local organizing committee deserves special thanks: Toni Serafini, Uzma Rehman, and Robin Milhausen have coordinated some activities that will truly reveal the sparkle of Waterloo. Working tirelessly on all aspects of CSRF is the Executive Director—Gillian Boudreau—please, each and every one of you, give her your thanks in person, will you? Thank you also to the Executive Council—Nathan Lachowsky (Past-President), Natalie Rosen (President), Aki Gormezano (Senior Student Rep), Erin Fitzpatrick (Junior Student Rep), Uzma Rehman (JEDI rep), Katrina Bouchard (Treasurer), Shayna Skakoon-Sparling (Secretary), and Katherine Péloquin (Acting Secretary). They have done so much to ensure that you many opportunities to learn, showcase your work, meet new people, and catch up with friends. And very special thanks to Laura Coon and Kate Metcalfe who have worked closely with me to make this all happen.

Enjoy!

Lucia F. O'Sullivan, PhD
Chair, Scientific Program Committee
CSRF President-Elect
